U.S. PLANE KILL PROTESTED

IN THE RUNNING—Political plans of Ohio Gov. Frank J. Lausche, upper right, appeared to be the key to appointment of a successor to Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-O) who died Friday. Others being considered if Lausche bows out are: Rep. Robert T. Secrest, upper left, Seneca Democrat, in his eighth term in a nominally Republican district; Thomas A. Burke, lower left, mayor of Cleveland; and Michael V. DiSalle, lower right, former price chief. (AP Wirephoto Friday Night)

State Funeral For Taft Proposed

Top Demos Say They Will Not Try To Seize Control Of Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Politics were set aside in Washington Friday for a great eulogy to Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio. President Eisenhower, members of Congress and many of Taft's political foes joined in praising him as an outstanding American patriot and statesman.

The Senate majority leader—"Mr. Republican" to millions of Americans—died in New York Friday of cancer.

His death was announced to a hushed senate by Sen. Brickley (R-Ohio) who said in a barely audible voice: "The sad news has just arrived over the wires of the death of my colleague, the floor leader of this body."

Then came an outpouring of grief and praise which established eloquently the place Taft held in the hearts of the country's leaders.

Eisenhower Tribute
"The Senate has lost one of its leading members of all time," President Eisenhower said. "The American people have lost a truly great citizen and I have lost a wise counselor and a valued friend."

Deeply moved, the Democratic leader in the senate, Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, said "Bob Taft was one of our truly great men."

"His rocklike integrity, his unconquerable common sense, his unswerving devotion to principle, were the hallmarks of a career unmatched in our political history."

From one of Taft's greatest antagonists, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, came this comment:

"Honest difference of opinion is what makes America a great nation and it is what made Sen. Taft a great statesman and a great American. His sincere conservatism was an ingredient of our way of life."

Two former Presidents paid tribute to the senator. Truman said Taft's death was "a great loss."

"He and I did not agree on public policy but he knew where I stood... We need intellectually honest men like Sen. Taft in public service."

Former President Hoover, vacationing at Bohemian Grove, Calif., said, "Sen. Taft was my devoted friend over the 35 years since he joined me in public service during the first World War. In all the years he has brought endless blessing to the American people. Sen. Taft was more nearly the irreplaceable man in American life than we have seen in three generations."

Fish Is Found Guilty; Life Recommended

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (P)—A District Court jury Friday night found James LeRoy Fish guilty of murder in the first degree but recommended a life sentence rather than the death penalty asked by the state.

Fish was charged in the slaying of State Safety Patrolman Vernon Rolfs last May 30.

The jury deliberated about 8½ hours before returning its verdict.

Fish wept as he heard the verdict.

In his closing argument, Lincoln County Attorney James G. McIntosh earlier had picked up the 45 caliber revolver that killed the 38-year-old North Platte safety patrolman and used it to demonstrate his contention that the slaying was a deliberate act.

McIntosh contended that since the bullet coursed upward through Rolfs' body it could not have been discharged accidentally when it allegedly was ally when it allegedly was yanked from Fish's trousers, as Fish had contended. He declared Fish could not have been intending to shoot in front of the patrolman as they sat side by side in the car after Rolfs had arrested Fish and his companion, Harvey A. Locke for speeding.

Defense Attorney Bernard and Elbert Smith of Lexington, however, declared the gun went off accidentally and that the act was not premeditated.

They said Fish made no attempt to escape immediately after the accident and apparently was trying to co-operate in getting the patrolman to a hospital.

Elbert Smith contended that Fish had never fired the gun previous to the slaying of the patrolman and that in fact he did not know how to fire it.

The 27-year-old itinerant farm worker formerly of Gordon, Neb., pleaded when McIntosh asked for the death penalty.

Judge John Kuns of Kimball told the jury it might bring in a verdict of first degree murder, second degree murder, manslaughter or innocent.

FISH... Weeps at verdict.

Friend Firemen Win Water Fight

FRIEND, Neb. (Lincoln Star Special)—Members of the Friend fire department won the water fight against the Tobias fire department Friday night at the annual firemen's picnic in Friend.

Fire Chief William Rhynaults headed the winning team, and Lester Steinbrook, the Tobias group.

Swim Lessons Set For Rural Youngsters

To help curb the series of child drownings in farm ponds and stock tanks, the Lincoln YWCA will offer a series of swimming lessons at its pool for rural children, Mrs. Myron Roberts, chairman, announced.

The lessons will run from Aug. 10 through Aug. 29. Each child will be given nine lessons during the term. Instructor is Mrs. Shirley Carren.

A medical examination by the family physician or the YWCA physician is required. Copies of recent medical examinations will be accepted, Mrs. Roberts said.

Medical examinations will be given at the YWCA on Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m.

The schedule for the lessons is as follows:

Boys, 6 to 8, 1:30 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays.

Girls, 6 to 8, 2:15 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays.

Girls, 9 and up, 3 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays.

A series of plunges has also been arranged for the same three-week period to accommodate city, rural children, and adults.

The schedule will also run on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays at 8:45, 4:30, 5:15, and 7:30 p.m.

The YWCA will be open through Aug. 29 and has a schedule for beginning swimmers with Merwin Rector in charge.

His schedule is as follows:

Boys, 9, 10-30 a.m., Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays.

Boys, 11 and 12, 9 a.m., Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays.

Boys, 12 to 15, 11:15 a.m., Tuesdays and Thursdays.

U.S. Debt— Ceiling Boost OK In House

Senate Democrats Oppose Fast Action

WASHINGTON (INS)—The House approved Friday President Eisenhower's request for an increase in the federal debt ceiling, but it was uncertain whether the Senate would act before adjournment.

The House voted 239 to 158 to boost the debt ceiling from 275 to 290 billion dollars. The present indebtedness is 272 and one-half billion dollars. The administration has expressed fear that failure to increase the limitation might be financially embarrassing.

Three of Nebraska's Republican congressional delegation—Curtis, Harrison and Hruska—voted with the House majority. Rep. Miller voted against the bill.

The 275 billion dollar ceiling is the maximum amount which may be borrowed by the U.S. government under existing law. Legally, the government would be barred from borrowing further funds once the ceiling was reached.

But with Congress ready to adjourn possibly Monday or Tuesday, Senate Democrats expressed opposition to such haste.

Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.), urged that Congress quit on schedule, with the understanding the president would recall it in special session in autumn.

Senate Recused

The Senate recused until Saturday without acting on the proposal. The Senate Finance Committee may consider the House measure Saturday.

Solid Democratic opposition could spell defeat for the President's last-minute request in the Senate Finance Committee. If any one of eight Republicans votes against the proposal, along with the seven Democrats, the measure would be pigeon-holed.

The debt ceiling measure is the only remaining obstacle to adjournment.

PW Swap Rehearsal Planned

Reds Say Wounded To Be Traded First

MUNSA, Saturday (P)—The U. N. command will stage a full dress rehearsal on Monday of the massive and complicated prisoner of war exchange scheduled to start Wednesday in Panmunjom.

The command also scheduled the first meeting of the four-nation Armistice Supervisory Commission in Panmunjom today at 3 p.m. 12 Midnight, Friday CST.

Its job is to watch for non-compliance with truce terms behind the lines of the Communist and United Nations forces, now separated by a 2½ mile wide buffer zone curving across Korea from coast to coast.

The supervisory commissioners are from Switzerland, Sweden, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

The announcements were made after a 48-minute meeting of the Allied-Communist Military Armistice Commission in Panmunjom today.

The armistice group, which has met daily since the armistice signing Monday, scheduled no session for tomorrow. Maj. Gen. Blackshear M. Bryan is the senior U. N. officer on the commission.

Every Angle

Col. Edward Austin, chief U. N. spokesman for the Armistice Commission, said the practice session on the POW exchange Monday would cover every angle in the reception of captives from the Communists, from the moment they leave Red control until they are sent on their way homeward.

The U. N. expects to receive 12,763 Allied troops—including 3,513 Americans—from the Reds in exchange for about 74,000 Korean and Chinese Communist POWs.

A Chinese Communist Peiping Radio broadcast heard in Tokyo today said sick and wounded Allied prisoners would be the first to be returned in the trade, and that a "good number" of them would be Americans.

State Department Readies Rejection To Russian Claim

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Friday received and prepared to reject a Russian protest that four U.S. fighter planes shot down a Soviet passenger plane with 21 aboard near the Chinese-Korean border last Monday.

The Red plane was the last craft shot down by a U.S. pilot in the closing hours of the Korean War. The armistice already had been signed but had not yet gone into effect.

The Moscow Radio said the plane was enroute from Port Arthur, Manchuria to the Soviet Union and was 66 miles from the Chinese-Korean frontier.

The State Department said the plane actually was south of the border in the Korean combat area.

The craft was a Russian type IL-12 transport.

Capt. Ralph Parr, jet ace from Apple Valley, Calif., brought it down last Monday. The Air Force said it was shot down 10-12 miles south of the Yalu River.

Russia's protest over the transport, which carried 15 passengers and a crew of six, came less than 24 hours after this country had sent a sharply worded protest to Russia on the shooting down of a U.S. B50 bomber off Siberia.

Quick Relay

The Russian protest was relayed swiftly from Moscow by Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen.

Both State and Defense Department officials, advised of the incident, were prepared to deal with the Russian protest promptly.

A State Department spokesman said "the information we have is that it occurred well south of the Yalu River in the Korean combat zone."

"We will reject the protest," he said.

The United States reply, informed officials said, will also declare that the responsibility for the loss of life rests with the Russian government for having caused the plane to fly through the Korean combat zone.

'Pirate-Like' Attack

The Russians said in their note that the plane was brought down by four U. S. fighters "who invaded the frontiers of the Chinese Peoples Republic" near the town of Hsuanan.

The government resolutely protests against this pirate-like attack by U. S. military planes on a Soviet passenger aircraft which was flying over territory of the Chinese Peoples Republic and expects the United States government to take measures to severely punish the people guilty for this attack and see that it will not allow any future criminal action by U. S. military commands," the note said.

Lincoln Woman Is Hospitalized After Blaze Damages Home

By ROY CAMPBELL, Star Staff Writer

A cruelly burned Mrs. Irene Wright was in "not serious" but badly burned condition Friday night after her newly-remodeled home was partially burned from a fire that started in her bedroom.

At St. Elizabeth Hospital, Mrs. Wright was reported "severely burned" in several places, but not in serious condition. The hospital said Mrs. Wright is expected to recover, but with burn scars.

A fire department rescuer squad answered a call shortly after 10 p.m. and gave Mrs. Wright temporary relief from smoke asphyxiation when she was discovered outside the bedroom of her home and overcome in a hallway. She had only temporarily recovered when the fire department rescuer squad arrived.

As yet of undetermined origin, the fire was believed to have started in Mrs. Wright's bedroom which was blackened with the flames. The estimate of damage was set at around $1,500.

Mrs. Wright, 53, was attended by her daughter, Lavonne, shortly after flames engulfed the rear of the home. People in the Havelock area hampered the work of the firemen as they attempted to dampen all "bright" or potential flame spots in the bedroom of the residence.

One unidentified observer said he was walking past the home when the rear of the house

ROSS... U. S. attorney for Nebraska.

Ross U.S. Attorney For State

Donald R. Ross, 31-year-old Lexington mayor and attorney, was nominated by President Eisenhower Friday as U.S. attorney of Nebraska, succeeding Joseph T. Votava of Omaha.

An Associated Press dispatch from Omaha said Votava announced Friday afternoon he was resigning.

Mrs. Berdina Weiler, 19, Alvo, was reported in critical condition by the sheriff's office late Friday night. Her son, Kenneth, 2, was in good condition.

Other injured were Paul Reid, 21, of Lincoln in fair condition and Floyd Reuther in good condition.

Reid was reported to have suffered scalp cuts and possible neck injuries. All four persons are at Bryan Memorial Hospital.

Four-Year Term

Votava has been U.S. district attorney since April, 1935. He had been appointed to a four-year term which was to expire in July, 1955.

His immediate plans call for a vacation, he told The Star.

Votava's deputies, who will apparently be replaced after the new U.S. attorney takes his post, are John C. Deming, Edward Tangney and John J. Powers, all of Omaha, and James L. Brown of Lincoln.

Ross, en route to Omaha to attend the state American Legion convention, was unavailable for comment upon his nomination.

Recently the Department of Justice suggested that Ross' age and experience—he has been practicing law since 1948—might not be sufficient for the job. However, it was pointed out that a 33-year-old Texan with fewer years of law practice experience had been appointed to a similar post in Texas.

Ross will presumably move to Omaha to establish his headquarters, probably sometime in August.

2,000 Throng Lincoln Parks For Annual Celebration

More than 2,000 youngsters and their parents celebrated the annual "Joseph Lee Night" Friday with picnics, ball games, treasure hunts and track meets at the 19 playgrounds that dot Lincoln.

The special programs, accompanied by open house at all the school's playgrounds, is an annual event commemorating Joseph Lee who established the nation's first public playground in 1900.

Included in the night's activities was a circus at Sheridan, watermelon feeds at Elliott, Havelock and Hayward parks, family nights at Cooper, Peter Pan and Randolph, father-son ball games at Capitol and Prescott, picnic and treasure hunt at Roberts, track meet at Pentzer Park, scavenger hunt at Saratoga and an ice cream festival at Willard.

Bill Heggen, city director of playgrounds, said the night's activities climaxed the playground groundhug program. Activities made during the program are on display in a downtown store window. The display includes finger-painting, water coloring, leather work, metal tooling, beading, textile painting, gimp work and a s k e t weaving.

Nebraskan Tells Of Attack By Soviet Warplanes Denied B-50 Fired First

TOKYO (Saturday) (INS) — The only known survivor of a B-50 American bomber shot down by Russian fighters Wednesday declared today the Communist warplanes opened attack without any warning.

Capt. John E. Roche, 28, of Washington, D. C., told a Tokyo News conference the story of his fight for survival, how he and the pilot of the B-50 bomber struggled for their lives for 22 hours while in the water of the Sea of Japan.

Roche, a native of Newcastle, Neb., was co-pilot of the bomber. The pilot, Capt. Stanley K. O'Kelly, of Topeka, Kan., drowned just as a B-29 rescue plane dropped a rubber boat at sea.

Roche was rescued 11 and one half hours later by the Navy cruiser Bremerton, within sight of Siberia.

Roche said he did not know the fate of the other 15 members of the crew of the bomber. Russia formally charged that the bomber was flying over Russian territory when it was intercepted by Soviet fighters, and that the American plane fired first.

The sun-burned co-pilot, talking at the news conference with bandages around his head and open cuts on his chin, said:

"At no time did the Russians challenge us. They just came up and started shooting. I never saw the plane (the Communist interceptor) at all."

His report was in sharp contrast to the charge leveled by Russia that the American bomber fired first at the Russian planes after the Red planes attempted to signal that the B-50 was over Red territory.

Roche said that the first indication of trouble was when the Russian plane shot the bomber's number one engine off its mount.

Roche went on to say:

"Just then the burning wing gave way and I was thrown out of my seat and hit the panel. I was dazed and pretty well out."

Roche said he would have gone down with the plane had not O'Kelly shaken him and shouted, "Come on, wake up! We've got to get out of here!"

The co-pilot said the two of them "flipped around like a breeze hitting the top and bottom of the aircraft" as they attempted to reach the escape hatch. He said that the other crew members appeared to have bailed out before he and O'Kelly jumped.

He added:

"I ducked my head and pulled up the rip cord. I could smell smoke everywhere and I thought my chute was on fire. I looked up and it was all right, and by the time I looked down again, I was in the water."

He then heard some one cry out and through the haze he saw O'Kelly.

"He stayed with me, until I spotted the B-29 after 11 hours in the water," Roche said, "but as the lifeboat was dropped, O'Kelly drifted away from me. He was a little weak. I swam to the boat, and by then I was 200 yards from O'Kelly. I couldn't reach him."

R. Dinges Injured; Truck Overtakes

Richard Dinges, 17, of 226 C, was hospitalized for a back injury Friday following an accident in which the pickup truck he was driving overturned in a ditch on the Highway 6 cutoff just west of the West O viaduct.

St. Elizabeth Hospital attendants said Dinges' condition was "fair" and the extent of injury is pending X-rays.

The truck apparently went out of control in attempting to negotiate the cutoff curve and overturned in the ditch at mid-point in the curve, according to Safety Patrolman C. E. Whitney. The truck had been going west and was turning north.

Owner of the truck is George Alexander of 919 A. Dinges is employed by the fruit and vegetable dealer.

Man's Condition Good After Truck Collision

James L. Blecha, 23, 3145 No. Cotner, was reported in good condition following a car-truck collision in which Blecha was thrown from his car near the Havelock overpass.

Patrolman Delmar Whitefoot of the State Safety Patrol said the Blecha car was in collision with a five-ton meat truck driven by Adolph E. Masilko, 42, Omaha.

Sanitary District Refuses To Change 2-Mill Levy Plan

The board of Sanitary District No. 1 wants to raise more than 5 per cent of what its two-mill tax levy raised in tax money last year—and it looks like the County Commissioners don't favor such action.

The District No. 1 board, in special session with H. J. Amen presiding and Attorney Max Kier giving advice, sent a resolution to the Commissioners requesting that it intends to put a two mill levy on taxpayers within the district—despite property assessments increased by the State Board.

The Commissioners requested the district board to reconsider its levy of two mills in view of increased assessments—and the board has found use for the money in interest payments on bonds, has decided that it is within the law of LB 89, and has welcomed what looks like an increased revenue for the district.

LB 89, passed by the 1953 Legislature, makes it illegal to levy a tax for the next two years that will raise more than 5 per cent of the preceding year's revenue. Kier explained to the board that he thought the district would come under the first exception to the law which is "to provide for the payment of any bonded debt and interest thereon."

However, Kier pointed out, the law does authorize the County Commissioners to grant a levy increase over the 5 per cent law if a taxing district finds itself with insufficient funds to operate.

The Sanitary board, indicating that projected activity would put the district in the red at the end of this year, said the additional revenue could be used to pay interest on outstanding bonds—which they said the taxpayers would end up paying anyway.

R. H. Van Boskirk, auditor for the District, presented figures to show that if the District were compelled to abide within the 5 per cent law, the levy could be decreased .165 mill.

His computations showed that the District levied a tax on $139,046,000 assessed property in 1952 and brought in $276,092 revenue.

Addition of new construction, plus the 19 per cent increase on town lots and improvements put on by the State Board, would bring the District taxable property to $157,926,000. A two mill levy on this would raise $315,852—which would mean that the district would be bringing in $25,956, more than 105 per cent of last year's revenue.

Three Solutions Kier suggested three solutions to the board's problem:

1. The levy submitted is proper and is additionally made legal by exception No. 1 to LB 89;

2. Reduce the two mill levy by .165 mills;

3. Appear before the county board to ask approval for the two mill levy—under the insufficient funds provision of the law.

The board voted unanimously to send a resolution to the Commissioners which, in affirming the two mill levy, specified:

That the amount of taxes to be raised under the existing levy is uncertain.

That the District has present commitments for outstanding bonds and contracts.

That taking care of sewage from the Lincoln Air Base raises a future need.

That registering interest bearing warrants to take care of such commitments would be necessary.

25,117 Americans Killed

TOKYO (INS)—The Far East Command announced Friday that at least 27,829 men from 15 United Nations countries were killed in the Korean War and 25,117 of them were Americans.

Incomplete tabulations Friday listed a total of 156,662 United Nations and 256,901 South Korean casualties including the dead, wounded and missing.

U.N. forces inflicted far greater losses on the Communists. Red casualties were estimated at 1,897,000. Of these 1,095,000 were Chinese and 802,000 North Korean.

Search Is Ended

MANILA, Saturday (AP)—The Navy and Air Force discontinued the search for 10 men missing in the crash of a Navy FBM amphibious plane in the China Sea 60 miles off Luzon Island Thursday.

Five of the 15 aboard were rescued eight hours after the crash.

Kennedy Resigns

Kennedy, 27-year-old brother of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), told McCarthy he was leaving to enter private law practice.

Funds Approved

WASHINGTON (INS)—Senate-House conferees Friday night approved a supplemental appropriations bill giving a half billion dollars to various federal agencies for activities up to June 30, 1954.

Included was a Senate provision granting President Eisenhower authority to transfer to Korean aid purposes up to 200 million dollars of military funds saved by the truce.

Food Bill OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House quickly approved Friday night a Senate-House compromise bill giving President Eisenhower authority to send 100 million dollars of surplus U. S. food to needy friendly peoples abroad. Passed by 143-15 standing vote, the compromise must still be approved by the Senate.

Allotment Change

WASHINGTON (INS)—The House passed and sent to the Senate Friday a bill readjusting national cotton acreage allotments.

The bill, which was approved national allotment from 17 and one-half million to 22 and one-half million bales.

New Fire Engine Purchase Okayed By City Council

The City Council authorized purchase of a 100-foot combination aerial-pumper fire truck at an informal meeting Friday afternoon.

Ray Osborn, public welfare and safety director, was authorized to buy the truck from the America-La France Co. for approximately $38,000.

The truck differs from any now being used by the city, Osborn said. The city has a 100-foot pumper truck and a separate aerial truck, but no combination, he said.

The truck has been purchased for use at the new Cotner fire station. In the event the two trucks at the downtown fire station are in use, it will be brought down to be on hand for any emergencies.

The American-La France bid was accepted after a second letting held July 22. The original letting held in June was protested by a truck manufacturing company on the basis that the city might be wasting money by not letting all companies bid.

Tax Board To Amend Harlan County Errors

The state Board of Equalization Friday agreed to correct errors in the Harlan County assessment abstract after Co. Atty. D. A. Russell and Sen. Tom Coffey informed them that the farmland acreage should be 320,871 instead of 352,351 as reported.

The error was explained as being due to land flooded by the Harlan dam and school land being listed as waste land. The county will be required to furnish the board a certificate of actual taxable acres.

The county reported the assessed value to $5,494,270 and the state board equalized it by a 73 per cent increase to $9,779,800. The new figure will be $8,496,233 or a 53 per cent increase.

The board also allocated to the cities and villages of the state their share of rolling stock and terminal facilities of railroads.

The total figure for the railroads is $158,372,260. The board made no change in its earlier figure for the railroads when the Burlington and Union Pacific appealed their valuations.

The franchise figure is $3,956,200, and the sleeping car total is $743,480.

Amounts by counties for railroads, sleeping cars and franchises in that order include:

Adams, $2,650,480; $655,477,080; $3,140,155; $1,010,423,000; Dawson, $1,893,165; $15,505; $42,845; Dodge, $1,488,975; $28,080; $71,690; Douglas, $8,475,540; $12,245; $390,860; Gage, $3,012,465; $12,835; $29,015; Hall, $3,807,770; $28,375; $94,555; Jefferson, $2,167,620; $35,245; $11,325; Lancaster, $5,689,175; $39,550; $338,580.

Lincoln, $6,845,300; $93,040; $118,455; Madison, $1,208,905; $675; $55,405; Red Willow, $1,636,655; $845; $28,495; Scotts Bluff, $2,241,215; $1,085; $79,365.

Bus Crash Fatal To 17 ... In Ontario

MORRISBURG, Ont. (AP)—A Montreal-bound bus crashed into the rear of a stalled panel truck before dawn Friday morning and plunged with its sleeping passengers into the Williamsburg Canal. Twenty drowned. Seventeen other passengers and the drivers of both vehicles survived.

Screaming men and women smashed through windows and emergency doors as the bus settled on its side in 20 feet of water. Most of those who survived had to swim 20 feet to shore. A farmer and his family living across the road from the canal were awakened by the crash and the screams and got up to help. They took in the survivors and gave them tea.

The accident occurred on the Toronto-Montreal highway—No. 2—near Morrisburg, just across from the Massena-Ogdensburg area of New York.

A tentative list of passengers showed no U.S. citizens among them.

Taft Once Gave Major Political Speech In State

Robert A. Taft, Ohio Senator and four-time contender for the Republican presidential nomination, delivered one of his major speeches in Hastings on Oct. 16, 1952, when he was campaigning for his party's nod as nominee.

During November, 1940, Taft campaigned in the state for the late Sen. Wherry and Wendell Wilkie, who defeated Taft in the convention that year.

Taft was in Lincoln only once—on Oct. 15, 1942. He did not speak here but was on his way to Grand Island to fill a speaking engagement.

He was also in the state in December, 1951, to attend Sen. Wherry's funeral in Pawnee City.

Taft was a visitor in Omaha on six occasions from September, 1951, to October, 1952.

Oscar J. Wisbey Injured In Scooter-Car Collision

Oscar J. Wisbey, 46, of 3317 C was treated for a head cut and abrasions Friday following a motor scooter-car collision at 12th and H intersection.

Driver of the car was Mrs. Kathryn Anne Kinsley, 28, of Missouri Valley, Ia. Wisbey received the minor injuries when he jumped from his scooter just before the impact.

Mayor Clark Jeary has asked that people refrain from turning the fountains to full flow continuously. The mayor cited the city's shortage of water.

District Farm Bureau Meets Begin Aug. 4

The Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation next week begins a series of district meetings through the state to encourage the maximum of its 15,000 member families to participate in the formation of organization policies for 1954.

Secretary-Treasurer Robert Thompson, in announcing the series of district meetings, said: "The American farmer must decide what he wants done in the public policy field."

He explained that the meetings are the beginning of the Farm Bureau's plans to fulfill the request made by Secretary of Agriculture Benson that farm organizations assist in the development of a sound agricultural program.

The purpose of the meetings is to discuss the policy discussion process that community unit and county Farm Bureau will use in securing participation of the maximum number of families.

Thompson emphasized that the policy discussion process is not a new technique for Farm Bureau. It is an annual program which has been in use by the organization since its founding more than 30 years ago.

The 1953 meetings are expected to make the operation of learning the feelings of farm families on questions of public policy more efficient.

The first meeting will be held in Fremont, Tuesday, Aug. 4, at the Pathfinder Hotel; the second, Aug. 5, in Norfolk, Hotel Madison; the third at Beatrice, Aug. 6, the city auditorium; and the fourth at the Hotel Lincoln in Lincoln, August 7.

Fountain Fixers Cause Of 'Tizzy'

City Water Department employees have been in a tizzy the past week coping with people who go about readjusting downtown water fountains to keep a continuous flow of water in the public drinking fountains.

The fountains had been adjusted, because of the critical shortage of water, to produce water only when the handle is turned. Previously, water had flowed continuously through the fountains to keep the water cooler.

Mayor Clark Jeary has asked that people refrain from turning the fountains to full flow continuously. The mayor cited the city's shortage of water.

Death Comes To Bob Taft

By J. E. LAWRENCE

It has not been clear who will sit at the right hand of President Eisenhower ever since the inevitability of Sen. Bob Taft's illness became recognized widely by the public. Sen. Taft died Friday morning, peacefully, painlessly, after lapsing into a coma the day before. This is to write of the life of a man whose career projects one of the strangest chapters to be found in American politics.

Bob Taft never realized his ambition to follow in the footsteps of his father to the White House. Only a year ago to the month he was battling with all the strength at his command to achieve his long-held goal. I saw that battle in a hot, humid July in 1952 in Chicago. Its memories have been with me a great deal in these recent days while the telegraph wires from Taft's bedside heralded the end. It was a savage struggle for any newspaperman to watch—any newspaper observer who has seen a great many national political conventions. I had never been an admirer of Bob Taft, the politician. I left Chicago in July of 1952 after witnessing both conventions, more impressed with Bob Taft, the gentleman, than ever before. I know that many of the charges against him tossed to the winds hurt him cruelly. I know that the campaign waged against him must have brought grief to him for months after the echoes of the shouting had died. I had the feeling then that, in defeat, Bob Taft was the real winner of that convention struggle and nothing has developed since then to change my opinion.

It was then that he demonstrated his bitterness. He held no rancor for the campaign against him. If his heart was sore, no one knew it. He could smile when some of his supporters could not restrain their tears and he could speak with a moving gentleness when those who fought for him could only give vent to their bitterness. We did not follow Taft in the ultra-conservatism that frequently characterized his political career. There were occasions when his voice seemed to come from another world—a world in which all of us had lived and which no longer existed—and which never will return no matter how great the craving to see it again. We grant that it was beautiful in its peacefulness, its simplicity, its freedom from the great demands now being made on human faith and human purpose.

Bob Taft intellectually was much smarter than a lot of his conservative associates. He at least recognized the value of some of these social changes that have come in the last two decades. He supported the public housing program. In the 80th Congress in 1946 it would have been a comparatively easy undertaking for him to have opened the floodgates against the reciprocal trading agreement program. In most of the fields of statesmanship, there was a restraint to Taft born of long years of contact with the nation's problems. Labor came to look upon him as its chief enemy. It has never forgiven him for the Taft-Hartley law. There were unwise provisions written into that law, provisions which were the product of the bitterness of the hour, but when a calmer atmosphere asserted itself, there was and there is the foundation for labor legislation which will encourage a more wholesome atmosphere for all the interested parties, including the public.

We said that Taft had written one of the strangest chapters known to American politics. His star could be seen faintly along the horizon even as early as 1936 when thousands gathered on the lakeshore in Cleveland. Four years later it had taken its definite place in the battle in Philadelphia when the late Wendell Wilkie nosed out both Taft and Gov. Dewey. These last 12 years, with thunder in the sky, a global struggle in the air, on the sea and the land, and freedom itself at stake have placed such a crushing burden upon men in public life.

It would have been a rare privilege to have shared Bob Taft's innermost thoughts when, leaving Chicago after the 1952 convention, he retreated to the coolness and the solitude of his Canadian woods summer home. The Eisenhower forces loudly and repeatedly announced they were heading up a great crusade. Bob Taft was the first to be flattered by it. To the angry defiant cries that Taft was employing steam-roller tactics—that he had stolen delegates, notably the Texas delegation—the gathering emotional wave engulfed Bob Taft. Then came the fall campaign and what happened in it is common knowledge. After the victory the American people saw Mr. Eisenhower and Sen. Taft drawn closer and closer until Taft was recognized as the one man in Congress upon whom the President relied most heavily. There may be other instances where this has happened, but we doubt it.

The Republican party suffers a loss in the death of Sen. Taft. He did not come to the title of "Mr. Republican" easily. He earned it through years of patient, understanding, and devoted loyalty to the party. They speak of his integrity, a quality that stamped itself upon his public career. The real loss in Taft's death grows out of two developments. Intellectually he towered above his fellow Republicans in the Senate. He carried with him in his mind the important background of legislative change in the last two decades. With Taft gone, the struggle for his place will assert itself. We may come face to face with the fact that in terms of influence, Joe McCarthy may replace Taft. Certainly California's Knowland who holds the title of Republican floor leader is no substituted for Taft and no match for McCarthy.

If unrecognized earlier in the Eisenhower administration, we believe most Americans now appreciate to what extent President Eisenhower needs advice. It is not necessary to criticize the President's purposes. The fact is that a life in the Army has restricted the President to a limited experience with the problems concerning the American people, particularly those problems of a domestic character. Mr. Eisenhower will miss Bob Taft in the death of his rival for the nomination. The people will miss the restraining influence which Taft might have exercised upon the President.

There is something in American politics which in philosophical spirit we must recognize as terribly punishing to those who would serve us. Shortly before the late Wendell Wilkie's death, this editor received from him a letter written in longhand by his nurse in the hospital, in which Mr. Wilkie spoke of his hopes and his fears. The letter reached us shortly before boarding a train to California. When that journey ended and we were registering at a hotel, the first words that greeted our eyes were the newspaper headlines telling of Mr. Wilkie's death. We saw the late FDR become a mere shadow of the man who guided this country through troubled years. Earlier we saw the late Woodrow Wilson pass from the vigorous physical and mental vitality of the early years of the presidency to the pitiful invalid of those closing months of the battle over the League of Nations. Humans, all, living in high hopes of service, there came to all of them the pain, the grief of the destruction of cherished dreams.

We may speak of their passing as a part of the normal process of living and dying. Yet in the fierceness of the struggle—in the exultations of victories or in the bleakness of defeat—we cannot believe other than that American politics exacts its price.

Pentagoners Picnic

For light summer reading, Drew Pearson has just the thing in his column today. The Joint Chiefs of Staff, out on a get-together, are presented with aprons appropriate to the occasion, win prizes, etc., just as if they were at a high school picnic.

Before It's Over

The tax equalization mess in Nebraska recalls the observation of a soldier on the front line in Europe during World War II. "Ya know," he said, "with all this shootin' goin' on, someone is bound to get hurt."

Editorial Of The Day

To The Last Cadillac

From The Johnson (Kan.) Pioneer
So we are in a "disaster."
The government says so, and the eastern news writers, with their hearts bleeding for us poor, benighted, poverty stricken victims of the great desert, tell lurid stories of gaunt men, women and cattle, struggling valiantly in blizzards of dust to eke out a living for our underprivileged children.

Hell's bells. You'd think we were down darn near to our last Cadillac.
Of course the cattlemen are hit hard and the wheat crop is pretty generally a fizzle, but, when fit into the traditional picture it lacks much of being a "disaster." As one observer observed, "A man driving a $5,000 automobile does not look like a disaster."

In the first place the history of south-west Kansas was that two good wheat crops in five years was a very good average. Modern mechanized farming and the use of summer fallow has changed that, of course. But it has not changed it enough that one crop failure in 13 years constitutes a disaster. That is what Stanton county has had.
Crop production preceding the dry '30s had been good but market prices were disastrous before the weather was, and farmers could not conquer the drought. Now we have 12 years of accumulated prosperity in equipment and means to use it, which we lacked in 1932. Many have irrigation for auxiliary measures.
Cattlemen are harder hit, of course. But the designation as "disaster" won't be of too much help to them. It means they can buy feed cheaper. But every day big trucks are hauling the alfalfa hay crops from Stanton, Hamilton and nearby counties to Texas. If feed were the big problem why are those crops not kept here to meet the needs of the local cattlemen?

Our people have whipped a lot of "disasters" a lot worse, and then sent cash contributions to help out the poor devils in the flood areas back east.

Joint Chiefs Of Staff To Use Ike's New Rules

WASHINGTON—Most important developments at the Quantico meeting of top brass was an order by President Eisenhower that his military commanders must settle their differences inside the Pentagon and send him only unanimous recommendations.

If minority views are forwarded to him at the White House, Ike bluntly announced he will pay no attention to them. In other words, he expects the new Joint Chiefs of Staff to present a united front.

In the past, the Navy frequently differed from the Air Force and Army regarding Korean War strategy. But from now on no dissenting opinions will be permitted. At the Quantico meeting, the fiery, red-haired chairman-designate, Adm. Arthur Radford, served notice that he considered last year's election a mandate to the new Joint Chiefs to revamp their past policies. Radford didn't elaborate on what changes he expected to make, though he went on to stress the importance of the Far East. This was played the best golf game and otherwise excelled in sporting events. To Wilson's chagrin, most of the winners were the generals who have been bucking Wilson on budget cuts—the Air Force.

A "top secret" sign was posted outside the conference door as the President met with his military leaders at the Quantico Marine Base. However, this column can give a thumbnail account of what happened—except for matters involving military security, which are omitted. The President rambled along pleasantly to the top brass about team play and harmony, about how pleased he was to meet with his former comrades-in-arms. Then he told a joke about a duck hunter who was so "roaring drunk" that his companions left him behind in the rear blind while they went ahead to man the forward blind.

Finally, one lone duck flapped by, Ike related, and the hunters blasted away. Not so much as a feather was ruffled. Then as the duck passed over the last blind—wham!! One shot from the drunk brought down the stray duck. The hunters rushed back to congratulate their companion and found him still happily bloated.

"It wash nothing," Ike quoted the drunk. "Out of that flock of ducks, I wash bound to hit one."

Likewise, the President added soberly, out of all the speechmaking at the military conference, he wanted to stress one point. "I want the decisions of the Joint Chiefs to be unanimous decisions, approved by the chairman," he declared. "If a minority opinion is sent up to me, I will treat it as if it hadn't been sent."

When Adm. Radford's turn at the rostrum came, he hinted of changes to come in military planning.

ARCH DONOVAN

In Step With The Sower

THE Sower is often stumped by politicians. Are they smart and clever or just lucky and blunder into situations that might benefit them?

One instance of this kind developed this week. The politically named state board of equalization used exceptional timing in announcing the results of the board's actions. The sequence of their decisions was: (1) Equalization between counties and classes of property was agreed upon Monday with increases over county figures in the cases of most counties; (2) With the total assessed figure complete, the levy, considerably lower than last year, was voted on Tuesday.

BUT, relying on what they said was an opinion from Attorney General C. S. Beck, the board held that their act of Monday was not an official record because the minutes had not been approved and they refused to make it public until their own selected "release" date at noon Wednesday.

However, on Tuesday afternoon they released for immediate publication their actions of the same day in lowering the levy, completely ignoring the fact that the minutes of that meeting had not been approved. The result was that newspaper readers were greeted by headlines telling how the board had reduced levies to soften the shock of learning that their assessed valuations had been increased in some instances more than 100 per cent.

THERE was a little politicking going on at the county level where county boards could "pass the buck" to the state board as being responsible for boosting assessments to the actual value level as required in the Constitution and ignored by both county and state boards for over 20 years.

Some held off fixing county budgets until after the state levy was announced and then called friends on newspapers to learn how much the valuation had been increased in their county. In this way, they were able to also reduce levies a little due to the higher valuation and tell voters how they were saving in taxes.

At the same time because of the higher valuations in some instances they were able to squeeze out some additional revenue to spend in the county

"The civilian leaders have changed. Now we also must change," he warned. "The election was a mandate for us to make some changes."

Radford stressed the importance of Formosa as a bulwark against Communism, and urged a strong policy in the Far East. This led some of the military leaders to conclude that the first "change" would be more military aid for Chiang Kai-shek.

Any minority views against moves in China, they feared, would be suppressed by President Eisenhower's order.

NOTE—Theme of the Quantico conference was "team play," though some admirals and generals complained that they were treated like high school kids on a picnic. At a barbecue, for instance, they were given huge aprons with "the defense team" spelled out in big letters across the top and "varsity" written across the middle. Secretary of Defense Wilson and his civilian assistants also chipped in $100 each for prizes for the brass hats who caught the biggest fish, played the best golf game and otherwise excelled in sporting events. To Wilson's chagrin, most of the winners were the generals who have been bucking Wilson on budget cuts—the Air Force.

POSTAGE GETS LICKED

The backstage battle over postage stamps almost caused a divorce in the Eisenhower entourage. Bitterness reached a peak between Ike's close friends, Postmaster Gen. Summerfield and Sen. Carlson of Kansas, chairman of the Senate Post Office Committee.

Carlson has been so opposed to Summerfield's proposed boost to four cents per ounce for first-class mail, seven cents for air mail, and an extra 42 per cent for second-class mail, that the postmaster general finally went straight to the White House. And Eisenhower agreed to make the postage hikes part of his "must" program.

This brought Sen. Carlson storming over to the White House next day. There the President soothed his old friend from Kansas by indicating privately that he wouldn't really mind if mail rates weren't increased after all. He backtracked on his stand that this was "must" legislation.

However, Summerfield was so grimly determined to get his own way that he stood guard outside the House Republican cloakroom and began buttonholing congressmen as they came and went. As former GOP finance chairman, he intimated that campaign contributions might dry up for junior members of the House Post Office Committee unless they agreed to vote for the postage increases. He also got GOP committee men and such senators as Schoeppel of Kansas and Martin of Pennsylvania to phone the congressmen and exert even more pressure.

even though the levy was lowered.

THE Sower finds politics interesting and an opportunity for considerable finagling that the average taxpayer never realizes. That is one reason we oppose turning over the Legislature to the politicians, the way leaders who have entrenched themselves in both parties are organizing to ask.

We much prefer the non-partisan approach to fixing of the state budget after senators, beholden to no one, determine needs of the state agencies at public hearings where public officials have to explain just why they need every dollar they ask.

CLOUD Smith was pointing out the beauties of the Nebraska Capitol to a group of touring North Carolina farmers. Seating them in the beautiful supreme court chamber he was "pouring it on" as to the wonders of the state.

He told of the Sower atop the building and reeled off figures on the dimensions of the statue. "Notwithstanding a temperature change from below zero in winter to in excess of 100 degrees in summer, the Sower has never had a cold," the group was told.

"The reason," Cloud said very hush-hush "is that he always smokes cigarettes made from North Carolina tobacco."

That explains the loud laughter that had many statehouse employees puzzled last week.

THREE favorite girl friends of the Sower had blase Hollywood moguls of the television and movie industries craning necks and making hurried inquiries as to their identities, if reports brought back by Chas. Moon from his vacation in the movie capital can be believed.

Misses Donna Lemon, receptionist for Gov. Crosby, and Pat and JoAnn Sanders, daughters of Col. C. J. Sanders of the safety patrol, spent their vacation in the West. They contacted Moon who took them to the Nicodell restaurant, hangout of the TV and movie crowd.

Bob Moon, formerly with Lincoln radio stations and now producer of several TV shows, accompanied them. He was immediately besieged with inquiries as to where he got his good looking new talent and what kind of a show he was staging.

Stories Of Famous Hymns

MY AIN COUNTRIE

I am far frae my home an' I'm weary aften whiles
For the langed for hame bringin' an' my Father's welcome smiles.
I'll ne'er be fu' content until mine eyes do see
The shinin' gates o' heaven an' mine ain countrie.

My sins hae been mony, an' my sorrows hae been sair,
But there they'll never vex me, nor be remembered mair;
For His bluid hae made me white, an' His han' shall dry my e'e,
When He brings me hame at last, to my ain countrie.

By HORACE B. POWELL

Songs were as important as sermons in the famous soul-winning meetings which Moody and Sankey held, in America and Europe, nearly three-quarters of a century ago. Ira Sankey, who was responsible for the music at the revivals, often was called on for solos and "My Ain Countrie" was one of his most precious songs. It was written by a 23-year-old New York hymnist, Mary Lee, and made its first appearance in the New York Observer. Later, it was published by the young author-ess in a special volume with others of her poems.

Mary Lee was born in 1800 in Croton Falls, N.Y. She was still a little girl when her mother died and she was reared by a Scotch nurse and a devoted Scotch grandfather. The hymn itself was inspired by one of her nurse's stories. John Macduff and his young wife, according to the tale, had come from Scotland some years before to seek their fortune in America. They settled in the West and prospered. But with all their good fortune the young wife's health began to fail. When her husband became anxious about her, she said:

"I'm wearyin' for my ain countrie, John. Will ye not take me to the sea that I may watch again the ships that sail to my homeland?"

John Macduff's heart was touched by her plea. He sold his farm in the West and found a new home on the eastern sea coast where his wife could see the ocean and the ships that sailed daily out of sight across the eastern horizon. But when the little Scotch girl became more and more homesick and he knew that she would never be content in America, he took her back to Scotland. And there, in the beloved environment of her childhood days, she soon regained her health and happiness.

Mary Lee loved that story and, years later, she thought one day of how, like the young wife who left her home in Scotland, earth-dwelling men and women far from their heavenly homeland often long for the day of homecoming when they shall see again "the Father's welcome smiles." She began to set down her thoughts in verse and soon her beautiful hymn was born.

Well Of His Own

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I am not in the habit of writing or telephoning newspapers, but I do feel I should take the time to compliment you most heartily on the one-man fight you are making to speed up Lincoln's water program. I am sure the people of this community will recognize it as a fine service.

For A Utilities Board

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Out of a long association with city affairs, much of it in the service of the Lincoln Water Department, I have come to the conclusion that Lincoln's great need is a utilities board with full authority to make decisions relative to the utilities services. I am not speaking of an advisory board with its powers restricted to recommendations. I think Lincoln has grown large enough, its problems are big enough, and the matter of utilities services important enough to place its affairs under the direction of a utilities board.

It should be recognized that the hours of the day and the many responsibilities falling to the office of city engineer are too much to entrust to any man. What we need is a utilities board. PAUL DOERR

Two Quotes

New York City, N.Y.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Concluding his radio and television address to the nation on the Korean armistice Sunday night, President Eisenhower quoted the last sentence from Lincoln's Second Inaugural Address, as follows:

"With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in; . . . to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and a lasting peace among ourselves, and with all nations."

It is interesting to note that Lincoln's two sentences immediately preceding the sentence quoted by President Eisenhower are more pertinent to the present situation than the sentence he quoted. Without those preceding sentences, the meaning of President Eisenhower's quotation remains uncertain. They read:

"Tondly do we hope—ferently do we pray—that this mighty scourge of war may speedily pass away. Yet, if God wills that it continue until all the wealth piled by the bondsmen's two hundred and fifty years of unrequited toil shall be sunk, and until every drop of blood drawn with the last shall be paid with another drawn with the sword, as was said three thousand years ago, so still it must be said, 'The judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether.'"

To Americans, whose duly elected representatives not only acquiesced in, but at Yalta and Potsdam signed the documents that turned over eastern Europe and China to Communist slavery, the sentences omitted by President Eisenhower might have seemed offensive. Does our President think present-day Americans recoil from the Old Testament righteousness of Lincoln?

Any Good Clock Must Tell More Than Time

Clock watching is not generally an admirable trait, but unless something is done to stop the march of progress, the whole human race is going to develop eyeballs that move in orbits geared to 12-hour shifts.

It used to be that a clock was something to tell time by, but now it's getting so there is a clock for every purpose, including turning off the heating system when it's half past 78 degrees. Any day now some 17-jewel genius will develop one that throws itself at the cat on the back fence.

The forerunner of the clock which will eventually replace civilization and might even make the human race unnecessary is installed in the home of a friend upon whom we called the other evening.

We had scarcely surrendered hats and coats when he said, "Wanta see my clock?" I reached for my hat and said, "Sorry, I didn't know we'd stayed so long." He said wait a minute, that was not the idea. So we spent the evening watching his clock. Not only does the so-called timepiece tell the second, the minute, the hour, the day, the month and the year, along with lunar tables and some statistics on tides thrown in for good measure, but it also runs the kitchen, turns on the porch light, switches radio programs, regulates the air conditioning and sets its own alarm. It has an instrument board that would tempt a bomber pilot to fly it to Moscow.

I had to find something that clock couldn't do. "Have you figured out a way yet," I asked shrewdly, "to make it snitch on itself when it's running late?"

"Ha!" He was triumphant. "There's a gadget that makes it blow a little siren if the hour hand doesn't come up right on the dot!"

"A gadget? What kind of a gadget?" "Ha!" He beamed with the pride of creation. This, I judged, was his highest achievement. He flipped open a little compartment in the control board. I stared. There, truly, was a gadget, fastened to some wires and arranged to turn itself automatically as its weight shifted. It was an hourglass. Mrs. F. expressed my emotions in giving vent to hers. "Progress," she whispered, "is wonderful!" (Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate)

House Approves $6 Billion Aid Fund Compromise

Ike's Request Is Slashed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A compromise bill providing $6,652,422,390 for foreign aid during the coming 12 months was approved by the House 237-156 Friday after members were told that the late Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) favored approximately that amount.

The measure, a split-the-difference settlement of House cuts and Senate restorations worked out by the joint conference committee early Friday, now goes back to the Senate for concurrence.

Before accepting the compromise, the House narrowly avoided a new battle by rejecting 200-192 a move by Rep. Passman (D-La.) to send the bill back to conference with instructions to eliminate 211 million dollars for military aid to Europe.

Original Vote

The amount accepted by the House is almost 700 million dollars less than President Eisenhower requested, but 455 million more than originally voted by the House. It is 97 million dollars less than the Senate version.

In moving to insist on further cuts, Passman contended "our economy is strained to the breaking point." During an hour's debate Rep. Vorvys (R-Ohio) quoted from a July 1 speech by Sen. Taft to show that the late Senator favored approximately the amount in the bill. Passman's motion was beaten by 118 Republicans, 81 Democrats and one Independent. Voting for it were 103 Republicans and 89 Democrats.

Taft's words were recalled half an hour after his death was announced in the House.

Compromise Refugee Bill OK In House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Friday night voted approval of a compromise emergency immigration bill to admit 214,000 refugees and aliens over the next three years.

The bill, which grew out of a request from President Eisenhower, was whipped through in exactly three minutes by an unrecorded vote of 190 to 44.

Only Senate approval is still necessary to send the measure to the President for his signature.

The compromise bill was approved earlier in the day by a Senate-House committee named to reconcile differing versions of the measure passed by the two chambers.

The final version fulfills in part a request made by Eisenhower April 22.

The President asked that 240,000 refugees and other special quota immigrants be admitted to this country in the next two years.

From the outset the legislation ran into stern opposition from senators and House members who objected to any increase in the immigration quotas set by the McCarran-Walter Act last year and who contended it would be impossible to screen out all Communist agents.

Three Licensees Get 21-Day Suspensions

The state liquor commission announced 21 day suspensions of three retail licenses on charges of sales to minors.

Places ordered closed are operated by Earl E. Bloom, Holdrege; Florence and Wilbur Springsguth, Grand Island and William W. LeMay, Omaha.

Bohumil Slechta, Firth, was denied a beer license when protests were filed.

Byrnes' U.N. Job Confirmed

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Senate Friday confirmed the appointment of one-time Secretary of State James F. Byrnes as a United Nations assembly delegate, and that of Major Gen. William J. Donovan of New York as ambassador to Thailand.

Lester D. Mallory of Washington was confirmed as ambassador to Jordan.

Other U.N. assembly delegates confirmed include Henry Cabot Lodge, chief U. S. representative; Rep. Frances Bolton (R-Ohio) and Rep. James P. Richards (D-SC).

Henry Ford II, Detroit automaker, was named an alternate assembly delegate, along with Dr. Charles W. Mayo of Rochester, Minn., James David Zellerbach of Calif., Archibald J. Carey, Jr. of Ill., and Mrs. Oswald B. Lord of New York.

Eric A. Johnston of Washington was confirmed as chairman of the International Development Board.

Youth Is Injured In Scooter Accident

Wesley H. Pearce, 18, 6300 Strauss, was treated for cuts and bruises by a Lincoln physician Friday following a motor scooter accident earlier near 50th and Adams.

Pearce was traveling west on Adams when he hit some dirt and lost control of the scooter.

Columbus-Lincoln 'Bug' Has Only 1 Passenger On Last Run

A young lady with a ticket to Garland hurried through the Burlington station at 2:43 p.m. Friday and just managed to be the only passenger on the last trip of the 2:45 Burlington Columbus Motor.

The return trip to Columbus ended more than 40 years of twice-a-day service between Columbus and Lincoln for the CB&Q "Bug."

G. W. Macoy, the conductor, took his nine-year-old daughter, Hally, along for the ride. Macoy had been with the little train for only two weeks of its long service.

Besides Hally and the single passenger, the combination car also carried cream and express on its trip through Garland, Seward, David City, Ulysses and Bellwood to Columbus.

It had brought about six passengers to Lincoln. The passenger list had an average of three or four persons each trip during the past few years.

The State Railway Commission recently granted the railroad's request to discontinue the service. The Burlington alleged passenger and baggage service alone did not justify its operation since the Post Office Department discontinued a mail contract on the run two months ago.

News of interest comes this morning from Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gillett who are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Doris Mae, to Charles E. Carothers, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Carothers of Broken Bow.

The wedding will take place the afternoon of Sunday, Sept. 6, and the 4 o'clock ceremony will be solemnized at the Church of the Holy Trinity, Episcopal.

Miss Gillett is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority. Her fiancé also was graduated from the University of Nebraska, and now is a senior in the University of Nebraska college of dentistry. He is a member of Sigma Nu and Xi Psi Phi fraternities.

—one of the incongruous sights of the summer — a smartly dressed woman waiting to board a bus the afternoon the temperature soared around the 100° mark—dressed in a velvet hat, suede shoes and finger-tip length fur coat!

—one Lincoln family had, for some time, a most unusual means of entry into their home. When they moved into their new abode the front door was tightly stuck and, for months, all efforts were wasted in attempting to remedy the situation. The members of the family finally solved the situation by simply climbing in through one of the front windows.

—it is always interesting and amusing to delve into the history of the early days of any organization. In the birthdays of the Circle Theater, meetings were held nearly anywhere—one of the first was conducted in a board member's car in front of the City Hall. Five members were present and the whole proceedings are officially recorded in the minutes.

—a favorite New-Bride story: A local young-married, new to the ways of laundering, and faced with her first washing job, starched everything in the machine—the sheets, her husband's pyjamas, even his socks. His comment? "Mother never had sheets that cracked when you laid on them, or pyjamas that were so stiff they cut. No, Home was never like this!"

—St. Paul, Minnesota is still reeling from the impact of six young campers who made the mistake of getting off the train there instead of in Minneapolis. While waiting to find a place to stay overnight they played tennis in the corridors of the St. Paul station. After finally finding a room where all six boys could be housed, they proceeded to throw water out of the window, play more tennis in the hall corridors, and engage in some strenuous pillow fights.

—jealous Democrat joke: "There is a new dance step called the 'Eisenhower Hop'—one step forward, two steps back, hesitate, then side step."

A trio

of attractive feminine guests includes Mrs. Perry Branch Jr., and her young daughters, Susy (seated) and Sally who arrived from Rochester, N. Y., with Mr. Branch a few days ago for a visit with Mr. Branch's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Branch. Mr. and Mrs. Branch have been kept exceedingly busy with numerous informal courtesies since their arrival here. Just in case your memory needs a refresher—Mrs. Branch is the former Mary Lou Holtz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Holtz.

Ladies Day Out Plans Picnic

Members of the YWCA Ladies Day Out are planning a picnic for their families to be held at Antelope Park on Sunday, August 9.

The club will open its fall season early in September with the formal installation of new officers. The officers for the coming year will be Mrs. H. S. Morgan, president; Mrs. John J. Gabarron, vice president; Mrs. J. G. Froeseiser, secretary; Mrs. W. D. Versaw, recording secretary; and Mrs. R. C. Lipps, treasurer.

Choose Dates For Weddings

Campus circles especially will be interested in the announcements of wedding dates by two University of Nebraska graduates—Miss Jean Burford of Omaha, who has chosen Wednesday, August 12, for her marriage to William Cambridge, also of Omaha, and Miss Marilyn Barnesberger of Hampton, who will become the bride of Al Blessing of Ord on Sunday, August 9.

Miss Barbara Johnson of Oakley, Kan. has chosen Monday, Sept. 14, for her marriage to Richard Ward. The ceremony will be solemnized in Oakley, and Sunday, Sept. 6, is the date chosen by Miss Jacqueline Rollins of Carthage, Mo., for her marriage to Almaron Wilder. The ceremony will be solemnized at the First Methodist Church.

Miss Yvonne Cook of Arlington will become the bride of Don Berge of Denver on Tuesday, Aug. 18.

Miss Shirley Ann Deeter has chosen Saturday, Aug. 15, for her marriage to Gene Culver, which will be solemnized at 8 o'clock at the Central Church. For her maid of honor, Miss Deeter has chosen Miss Barbara Culver, cousin of the bridegroom-elect, and brides-matron will be Mrs. Andrew Meyer. Attending Miss Deeter as bridesmaids will be Miss Dorothy Mason and Miss Nancy McEntasser. Lighting the candles will be Miss Carol Cooper and Miss Ilene Bomberger, and flower girl will be Miss Karen Ingersoll. The brother of the bride-elect, Ronnie Deeter, will serve as ringbearer.

Serving Mr. Culver as best man will be Robert Peacock, and the corps of ushers will include Andrew Meyer, Dale Overman, Frank Benedict, and Don Squires.

Miss Wilma Reiner of Waverly, and Miss Beverly Miller of Ceresco shared honors Thursday evening, July 30, when they were complimented by a dessert-supper for which Mrs. Harold Way and Mrs. W. D. Way were hostesses at the home of Mrs. Harold Way.

Miss Miller will become the bride of Dale Sundeen on Friday, Aug. 28, and Miss Reiner will be married to his brother, Norman Sundeen, on Thursday, Sept. 3.

After an informal evening, a miscellaneous shower was presented the brides-elect by the 14 guests.

Great Gusto For August

HERE WE ARE with another first—of August—the one and only of 1953—We're greet-it with great gusto this year, because it brought us more of what we like best—news—

But before we delve into the this and that that makes the social world go around we want to extend our heartiest welcome—and also our sincerest apologies to Barton Richard Smith who, at the moment, gives the world a bored look from the nursery at Lincoln General Hospital—Our Mr. Smith arrived on Thursday, July 30, but we wanted to contact at least one of his adoring relatives before announcing the news—but we missed—And we know that it's needless but we'll tell you anyway—His mother is the former Patricia Lahr.

THE GUEST list is growing—and growing—Have news this morning of two more recent arrivals—One of them is Miss Gretchen Bosse who came from Eugene, Ore., by way of Eldora, Colo., for a visit with her grandmother, Mrs. Harry Everett. Miss Bosse's mother, Mrs. Frederick Bosse, is the former Betty Everett Easterday, and in Eldora our young and attractive guest visited her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Easterday who are vacationing at their summer home.

AND ALSO from the west—Los Angeles—has come Barry Brewster who is spending a few weeks as the guest of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Royal Brewster.

THEN WE discovered that there are almost as many travelers as guests—Mr. and Mrs. Royal Brewster, for instance, their grandson; Mrs. Brewster's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Wright of Omaha, their three sons, Bill, Dick and Fred—and Miss Ann Rogers will be leaving tomorrow for Colorado where they will have a two weeks holiday at Wind River Ranch.

HEARD, TOO, that Dr. and Mrs. O. V. Calhoun left late Thursday evening for Piney Ridge, Minn., where they will vacation for a few weeks—Incidentally Dr. and Mrs. Calhoun's two daughters and their son, David, already are in Minnesota. Miss Janet Calhoun is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Weaver at Pelican Lake—Miss Mary Lou Calhoun is spending a few weeks at Camp Lake Hubert, and David is at Camp Lincoln.

SOMEONE told us that Judge and Mrs. Frederick W. Messmore plan to leave Monday morning for Pocatello, Idaho, where they will spend a few weeks as the guests of their son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. John Messmore, and their family.

CAN'T THINK of a better time than right now to talk about additional courtesies for one of August's popular brides-elect, Miss Mary Jean Neely, whose marriage to Hugh Williams of Omaha will take place on Aug. 29 at St. Matthews church, Episcopal.

Miss Neely is to be complimented next Wednesday when Mrs. Samuel is hostess at a 10 o'clock coffee at her home—

And on Wednesday evening the soon-to-be bride again will be honored when Mrs. Irl Stebbins and her daughter, Mrs. G. A. Gessner, and Mrs. Earl Coryell and her daughter, Miss Adele Coryell entertain informally at dinner at the Coryell's home. Following the dinner for which places will be arranged for 12, Miss Neely will be presented with a linen shower.

ON NEXT week's calendar for Miss Neely is the 1 o'clock luncheon for which Mrs. O. W. Hallam will be hostess at the Lincoln Country club. The guest list will include the members of a play-reading group, to which the bride-to-be's mother, Mrs. J. Marshall Neely, belongs. Miss Neely will be presented with a one-gift shower.

MISS NEELY will go to Omaha on Wednesday, Aug. 19, to attend a luncheon in her honor for which the bridegroom-elect's mother, Mrs. A. H. Williams, will be hostess at the Happy Hollow Country club.

ALSO TO BE included in next week's activity is the 10:30 o'clock brunch on Thursday when Mrs. Frederick Elche and Mrs. Richard Kosman are hostesses at a 10:30 o'clock brunch at the home of Mrs. Kosman, in courtesy to Mrs. Chauncey Sheldon who, with Mr. Sheldon, moved to Lincoln from Scottsbluff a few weeks ago. A small group has been invited for the brunch and an informal morning.

From Oklahoma City, via Pelican Lake, Minn., have come Mrs. Rems Heiny, and the two Heiny small-ry, Patsy and Rems, jr. who, with Mr. Heiny, are spending a few days as the house guests of Mrs. Heiny's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hinds. At Pelican Lake and Mrs. Heiny (Shirley Hinds) and their children were the guests of Mr. Heiny's mother, Mrs. E. R. Heiny.

Lennox Club Has Election

Mrs. G. W. Bramwell was hostess to the members of the Lennox Club Wednesday afternoon at her home. During the business meeting, the members elected officers for the coming year.

President of the club will be Mrs. G. M. Clark; vice president, Mrs. G. C. McKee; and treasurer, Mrs. W. H. Grant. Mrs. J. J. Mosher was re-elected secretary of the club for the twenty-second consecutive year.

Refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the afternoon.

Two Die In Headon Duncan Auto Crash

Minnesota Pair Dead; 2 Injured

DUNCAN, Neb. (AP)—Two St. Paul, Minn., residents were killed in the head-on collision of two autos three miles west of here on Highway 30 Friday.

County Attorney Byron Reed identified the victims as Mr. and Mrs. John H. Sprague. Sprague was 72, his wife 66.

Their daughter, Bonna, about 21, and Miss Virginia Brockman, 25, of Columbus, Neb., were hospitalized at Columbus with undetermined injuries.

Reed said the Sprague car, westbound and driven by Mrs. Sprague, apparently went out of control and swung over into the path of the eastbound Brockman auto. Both autos were demolished.

Miss Sprague was asleep in the back seat of the car and was unable to tell what happened, Reed said.

The deaths raised to 153 the number of persons injured fatally in Nebraska traffic accidents this year, compared to 181 on this date in 1952.

Power Pools Are Urged For Basin

LEWISTON, Mont. (AP)—Power pools are being urged in the Missouri Basin even if not on a basin-wide scale.

The Missouri Basin Inter-Agency committee was so informed during discussions which followed a report on the north-western power pool for Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Utah, Montana and British Columbia.

The inter-agency committee ended its 67th meeting Friday by touring irrigation facilities of the Musselshell River drainage near Lewistown. It's next meeting will be at Loveland, Colo., Aug. 26-27. A meeting was tentatively scheduled for Fargo, N. D., Oct. 1-2.

State GOP, Demos Call Taft Death 'Irreparable Loss'

Nebraska's Republicans and Democrats alike found common ground Friday in terming the death of Senator Robert Taft "an irreparable loss to the nation."

Dave Martin of Kearney, chairman of the state Republican party, said, "The death of Senator Taft is an irreparable loss to the entire world as he was one of our outstanding statesmen. Because Senator Taft was such a profound thinker, his leadership in the Senate will be sorely missed by the members on both sides of the aisle."

Martin added, "Senator Taft by his ability, integrity, and endurance has proven himself one of the great leaders in the entire history of the United States. He was a good friend of mine and I'm going to miss him."

Gov. Robert Crosby considered Senator Taft's death, "a very great loss to the nation and to the Republican party."

"Regardless of whether a person may have agreed or disagreed with Taft's political positions, everyone had to recognize the exceptional character which permitted him to suffer defeat in his presidential aspirations, and still rise above it to work with Eisenhower for the best interests of his country as he saw it," the governor commented.

"Lack of Bitterness"

He said he considered Taft's "lack of bitterness" a very unusual trait in the senator's character.

Joe Wishart, state GOP treasurer, added that his death "is a very regrettable loss to his wife and family and a tremendous loss to the country."

Mike Meyers, Omaha attorney who led Taft's write-in drive in the April, 1952, state primary, felt "a terrific shock" and observed that the Ohioan's death was "a very distinct loss to the nation."

A Republican national committeewoman, Mrs. Edna Basten, Donald of Grand Island, termed Taft's death "an irreparable loss."

"I had come to know Senator and Mrs. Taft rather well during the last few years and I regarded him as having one of the very finest legal minds in the nation," she said.

"Calamity For Party"

"The loss of such a man is a calamity for the party at any time and the critical balance now existing between the two parties in the Senate makes the situation more serious," Mrs. Donald commented.

Charles Thone, assistant attorney general and Taft supporter in '52, remarked that "he will be sorely missed in the Senate."

Thone added that Taft was remarkable in that he put his country and his party before himself.

Bernard Boyle of Omaha, Democratic National Committeeman said, "As minority leader during the Democratic administrations and as majority leader in the present administration, his conduct was always that of a forceful, intelligent leader."

"His sincerity was one of his lovable assets and his opinion was weighed and respected by leaders of both parties."

The chairman of the Lincoln Young Democrats, Don Knutzen, spoke for the club in saying, "Respectful of our political differences, the Young Democrats have always recognized in Senator Taft, a man who fought tenaciously for what he believed was right. By his untimely death, the GOP party has lost one of its most distinguished champions, and the nation has lost a senator of great ability."

Korean Truce Not Affecting Wahoo Plant

OMAHA (AP)—Speculation that production might be cut at the Nebraska Ordnance Plant of Wahoo because of the Korean truce was dispelled with the report of new hirings.

Donald A. Burdette, service director for the National Gypsum Co., plant operator, said the plant is hiring from 200 to 250 more workers.

He said the workers will man the No. 3 load line, which had been shut down for retooling for production of aerial bombs. It will go into operation next week. This line had been making demolition blocks. Its workers were shifted to increased schedules on the other three lines during the retooling.

Burdette said the additional workers were needed because the other lines are maintaining the heavier schedules.

National Gypsum now has about 3,250 employed at the plant.

Nebraska's Corn 'Lasting Better Than Expected'

Nebraska's corn crop is holding out better than was expected, reported A. E. Anderson, state-federal crop statistician, Friday as he viewed the dry-heat spell's effect on crops.

Anderson, who said the corn was "holding up" surprisingly well, told The Star the situation is "not hopeless" yet, although it gets worse each rainless day.

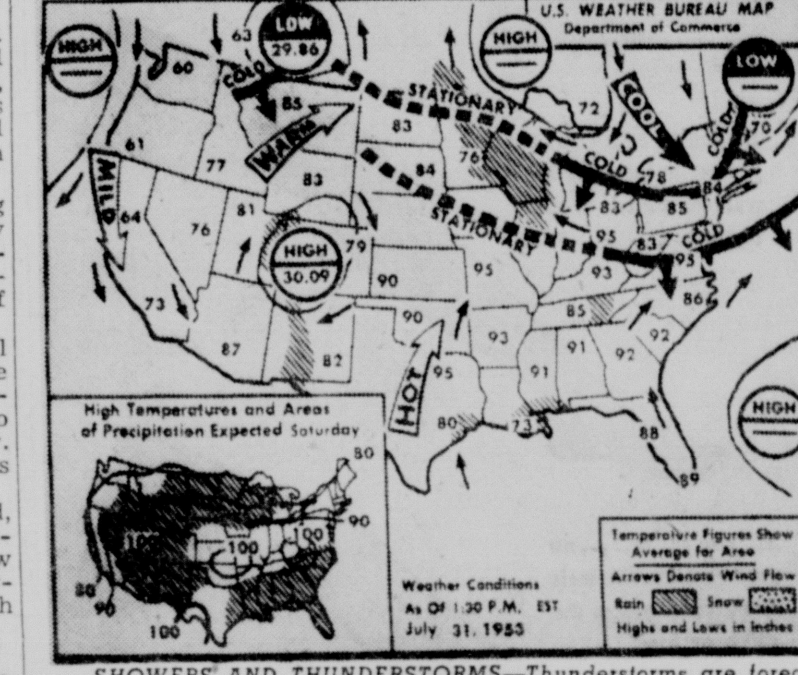

However, he continued, how long the corn can last depends on temperatures and winds. He declined to predict how long the corn would survive without rain.

Anderson reported the irrigated corn in "excellent shape." The entire situation is "very spotty," and areas which have had recent heavy rains are all right, he added.

Assessed Valuation, Sale Price On Ranch Differ

The legal requirement of actual value property as the price a "willing buyer would pay and a willing seller would accept" has been the consideration the state board of equalization has had to consider in fixing assessed values of all classes of property for tax purpose.

The willing buyer and willing seller has been considered best exemplified at the statehouse by the sale of "By-the-Way" ranch in Cherry County by former Gov. S. R. McKelvie for approximately $200,000, $40 an acre to Wilber Drybread and Ralph Baker.

Speculation immediately started as to how the assessed value compared with the actual sale price.

Assessor E. B. Foster of Cherry county said Friday that assessed actual value after being adjusted by a 48 per cent increase in all farm lands in the county was $157,766. This would indicate that the original assessment before state increases was about one-half of the selling price.

Comparison of the figures bears out the statement of Gov. Robert Crosby that equalization by the state board was on the "conservative" side. The governor said that the average actual value fixed by the board in all Cherry county farm hand was $14.74 per acre.

He explained that there is much tillable land in the county and valuable hay meadows to offset the lower priced grazing land. The ranch sold by McKelvie is generally considered one of the better ranches in the county.

Gov. McKelvie in a telephone conversation with the Star said that the county had made its assessment long before the sale was negotiated.

He questioned that it could be called a representative sale due to other factors than mere land values.

"I think it was an exceptional sale," he said. "The ranch has been nationally known as the home of Hereford cattle for 22 years. This advertising gives it an intangible value to purchasers that could not be considered in assessing."

Recalling that he was governor at the time the law was changed by which assessed value for taxation was increased from 10 per cent of actual value to actual value, he expressed the opinion that it is going to take time to reach an equitable base for all individuals.

"This can be done and must be done to eliminate inequalities," McKelvie said.

Assessed Valuation, Sale Price On Ranch Differ

The legal requirement of actual value property as the price a "willing buyer would pay and a willing seller would accept" has been the consideration the state board of equalization has had to consider in fixing assessed values of all classes of property for tax purposes.

The willing buyer and willing seller has been considered best exemplified at the statehouse by the sale of "By-the-Way" ranch in Cherry County by former Gov. S. R. McKelvie for approximately $200,000, $40 an acre to Wilber Drybread and Ralph Baker.

Speculation immediately started as to how the assessed value compared with the actual sale price.

Assessor E. B. Foster of Cherry county said Friday that assessed actual value after being adjusted by a 48 per cent increase in all farm lands in the county was $157,766. This would indicate that the original assessment before state increases was about one-half of the selling price.

Comparison of the figures bears out the statement of Gov. Robert Crosby that equalization by the state board was on the "conservative" side. The governor said that the average actual value fixed by the board in all Cherry county farm hand was $14.74 per acre.

He explained that there is much tillable land in the county and valuable hay meadows to offset the lower priced grazing land. The ranch sold by McKelvie is generally considered one of the better ranches in the county.

Cigarettes, Cash Taken From Store

TECUMSEH, Neb. (Lincoln Star Special)—An undetermined amount of cash together with an estimated $100 worth of cigarettes were missing after a break-in at Lang's Grocery Store here.

This marks the sixth robbery in Johnson County in the past few months, according to county records.

Entrance was gained by prying open the lock on the front door of the grocery store, investigating authorities said.

conversation with the Star said that the county had made its assessment long before the sale was negotiated.

He questioned that it could be called a representative sale due to other factors than mere land values.

"I think it was an exceptional sale," he said. "The ranch has been nationally known as the home of Hereford cattle for 22 years. This advertising gives it an intangible value to purchasers that could not be considered in assessing."

Recalling that he was governor at the time the law was changed by which assessed value for taxation was increased from 10 per cent of actual value to actual value, he expressed the opinion that it is going to take time to reach an equitable base for all individuals.

"This can be done and must be done to eliminate inequalities," McKelvie said.

Chiefs Tumble Twice To Tight Sky Sox Pitching

Major League Leaders Enjoy Wins At Expense Of Lower Division Clubs

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees extended their American League lead to 5½ games over the Chicago White Sox Friday.

The Yankees overpowered the fumbling St. Louis Browns 11-5 in a day game and then had two ex-teammates—Bob Porterfield and Jackie Jensen—pair up for Washington to beat the White Sox 2-0 in a night contest.

St. Louis gave the Yanks seven unearned runs with four errors. Porterfield limited the White Sox to three hits as the Senators snapped Virgil Trucks' eight-game winning streak. Trucks hadn't lost since joining the Sox in mid-June. Jensen drove home the first run with a double and scored the second on a single by Jim Busby. Both runs came in the first inning. The shutout was Porterfield's sixth.

Cleveland fanned its faint flag hopes by slugging Philadelphia 12-6. Wally Westlake collected five straight hits including a home run. Owen

Friend also homered for the tribe.

Ralph Branca won his second game for Detroit since being waived out of the National League, stopping Boston on nine hits for a 5-3 victory. The Sox used four pitchers including Ben Flowers who was appearing in his seventh straight game, equaling the American League record. Starter Bill Henry was the loser.

Brooklyn won its first game in St. Louis this season, a 2-1 triumph featuring brilliant pitching by Carl Erskine who struck out 11 men. Erskine, whose record is now 11-4, has fanned 31 men in three games and has won six times this month. The Dodgers got one run off loser Gerry YORK—York whipped Sutton, 5-3, and Aurora blanked Stromsburg, 2-0, to tangle up the top in the Cornhusker baseball league.

The combination sent, York, Sutton and Stromsburg into a three-way tie for the loop lead.

Roger Bottorff, ex-Lincoln High pitcher, set Sutton down with seven scattered hits to pitch York's Braves to their win over Sutton. Bob Schneider had a triple and Manager Cleo (T. A. K.) Campbell, a double and single to pace the winners' batting attack.

Don Geery unleashed a triple for Sutton, whose ace chucker Lefty Israelson was sent showerward in the third.

Utica lost a 10-inning tilt to Geneva in the other game, 11-8. Catcher Roy Strong cracked out a triple in the tenth to cinch the win in the extra inning.

Conditioning, Better Control Simmons' Needs, Says O'Neill

MILWAUKEE (AP) — There's nothing wrong with Curt Simmons that conditioning and better control won't cure.

Manager Steve O'Neill of the Philadelphia Phillies says he is concerned about the ineffectiveness of his star left hander, but not worried.

Simmons has been knocked out of the box in his last four starts and has won one and lost five since returning to action a few weeks ago. The 24-year-old bonus hurler caught his foot in a power mower, June 4 and had half an inch of his big toe on the left foot amputated. He was out about three weeks.

"Curt gets tired very quickly," said O'Neill. He hasn't had time to get back in shape. His arm tires both in the upper arm and in the forearm. His toe has healed completely and hasn't effected his style one bit."

Simmons says the foot doesn't bother him. He just can't seem to get the ball where he wants it. As a result he has to take something off his fast ball to get it over, and the batters are rapping him hard.

There was some conjecture at the time of the power mower incident that Simmons might have to alter his style to acquire a new balance and pivoting technique, but O'Neill says that has not been the case.

"Lack of condition and wildness is all that's wrong with Curt. He'll have to regain his condition the tough way, in game competition," says O'Neill. "I don't like it, but there's nothing I can do about it. It's the only way he'll get the work he needs."

Simmons, who had a 7-4 won and lost record before the accident, seems to have some kind of tough luck almost every year. As a bonus kid he had to learn the ropes without minor league experience. When he finally got going in the Phillies' pennant year of 1930, the Army nabbed him in the middle of a season in which he had won 17 games. Last year he got out of the army, but missed spring training. Now the toe incident.

The doctor who amputated the half inch of Curt's toe said that no normal function of the foot would be impaired after healing. He didn't say whether using the foot in pitching big league baseball was considered a normal function.

Staley in the first when Ray Jablonski fumbled a ground ball with two out and allowed Junior Gilliam, who had doubled, to score. Gilliam drove in Billy Cox with the other Brooklyn run in the second.

The Cardinals got their run in the seventh when Steve Eiko doubled and moved around on singles by Dick Sisler and Red Schoendienst.

Larry Jansen of the New York Giants scored his fifth straight victory over Cincinnati 9-2. Hank Thompson and Alvin Dark homered for New York. Sam Calderone drove in three runs with a bases-loaded double.

Little Murry Dickson of the Pittsburgh Pirates pitched his first 1933 shutout and his first victory since June 20 with an eighth hit, 4-0 effort over the Chicago Cubs. Chicago got only one runner as far as third. Pittsburgh had lost 22 of its last 26 games.

Philadelphia's Robin Roberts won his 18th game of the season with a 5-1 four-hitter in the first half of a twilight night doubleheader at Milwaukee. Del Ennis and Stan Lopata hit home runs for the Phils.

Heavy rain broke up the scoreless second game in the top of the 11th inning. The Phils had two men on base and two out when time was called. After a half hour delay they gave up to the elements. It will have to be replayed on the start.

Max Surkont had given the Phillies four hits while the Braves had managed only three off Bob Miller.

The night's work pushed the Braves another full game back of the Dodgers and they now trail by eight.

Hartwig's Slam Highlights Swim Meet

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Member

KATHY Hartwig's grand slam in the prep girls division featured the Lincoln News-press-sponsored city swimming meet at Mundy Pool Friday night, as a large crowd saw two close races and two run-aways in the four-division carnival.

Miss Hartwig, a diver deluxe, displayed championship form in all four prep events, winning the free style, breaststroke and backstroke as well as her springboard specialty. Her 24-point total was high for the night.

Monroe Usher came close to Miss Hartwig's total with 22 points as he splashed to an easy victory in the junior boys division.

Jim Shane edged Usher by an eyelash in the 50-yard free style, but Usher won the other three events in which he entered—the 100-yard free style, the 100-yard breaststroke and diving—for an 11-point victory margin over Shane and Doug Thorpe.

The close races were in the prep boys and junior girls divisions. Dennis Barton and Jack Briggs shared the prep boys crown with 10 points each, and defending co-champ Jimmy Kost trailed with 9.

Donna Yungblut, defending city junior and senior champion, retained her crown in a duel with Sally Laase which wasn't decided until the final event, diving.

Miss Laase trailed by only three points going into the springboard event. Shirley Hopkins won the event, with Miss Laase second and Miss Yungblut third. That meant the defending champ held onto her crown by a slender two-point margin, 19-17.

Dennis Barton was disqualified in the prep boys 50-yard backstroke for swimming three strokes free style, and thus lost a chance to hold the prep championship undisputed. He tied with Briggs, who piled up points by placing in every event.

Kost, whose feats on the diving board were as impressive as Miss Hartwig's, gave Briggs and Barton a tough battle but lost the title he shared with Pat Drake last year.

Browns May Take Argument With Ottawa Club To Courts

OTTAWA (AP)—The acting secretary of Cleveland Browns was in Ottawa Friday concerning what may develop as professional football's hassle of the year.

He is Sterling Newell Jr., a lawyer. He conferred for two hours with James P. McCaffrey, president of the Ottawa football club. The talks involved bulky, 250-pound Lineman John Kissell who both the Browns and the Ottawa Rough Riders claim to have under contract.

"Kissell is the property of Cleveland Browns," Newell said. "and we'll instigate a lawsuit immediately to protect our interests."

He said Kissell, a starting tackle last season with the Browns, signed a 1933 contract with the Cleveland organization some time ago.

From Samuel Berger, Ottawa football club lawyer, came this comment:

"We are going to retain Kissell. We'll fight to the very limit to retain him. He is under contract with us and we intend to do our utmost within legal means to keep him here. As far as the club is concerned he is definitely going to play football for Ottawa this year."

Kissell, an impressive figure in two-a-day workouts with Clem Crowe's Canadian team, was unavailable for comment. When he first turned up for practice two weeks ago, he told newspapermen:

Elks Lose, 3-2; Lincoln Player Hurt

Lincoln Star Special

HASTINGS—Favored Hastings took the inside track on the American Legion district baseball tournament crown by beating the Lincoln Elks, 3-2, in the second round of the double elimination tourney.

The Hastings team now has a 2-0 record, while Lincoln and Fairbury are 1-1 in the tourney. Fairbury eliminated Falls City, 7-3, Friday night.

The Elks may have lost the services of Third Baseman Cliff Hardesty for the remainder of the tournament. Hardesty was beamed in the ninth inning and taken to a hospital unconscious.

Lincoln, trailing 3-1, rallied in the ninth but the threat ended as Yogi Hecenez grounded out with the bases loaded.

Hardesty was struck above and back of the left eye. No broken bone resulted, but Hardesty suffered a mild concussion. He was to be held overnight for observation and released this morning.

Lincoln scored in the fourth inning on Hardesty's single, a force play, an error and a base hit by Rowan Belknap.

Hastings got a pair in the sixth inning off Elks hurler Denny Curtin.

Gilmore scored the first Hastings run in the second frame on a walk, a fielder's choice and Butters' safety.

Fairbury Pitcher Bill Fischer batted in two runs with a single to spark a four-run outburst in the sixth inning as his team beat Falls City. The line scores:

NU Grants 316 Degrees As Summer Term Ends

Graduates Hear Talk By Colbert

The need to help advance research and keep scholastic curiosity sharp was emphasized by J. Philip Colbert, dean of the University of Nebraska's division of student affairs, Friday afternoon at the school's first summer session commencement exercises at the Student Union ballroom.

In an informal talk, Dean Colbert said it is difficult to measure the tremendous value of research to the well-being of mankind.

To illustrate his point, Dean Colbert first cited the history of helium, which, he said, was first nothing more than a curiosity when discovered in 1868 by a British amateur astronomer.

"At first it was believed to be a 'sun gas,' which did not exist upon the earth," he explained.

He said that development of uses for helium came rapidly following its discovery in considerable quantities in a gas well at Dexter, Kan., and a retired university staff member, Dr. W. L. DeBaufre, helped reduce the recovery cost of helium from $2,500 per cubic foot to 1 1/2 cents.

The dean also pointed to a Nebraska connection in research of molybdenum, one of the rare metals. Hugh Leal, a former Greenwood banker, helped develop excavations in Colorado where, in one mountain, 95 per cent of the world's supply exists, Colbert continued.

When first found, molybdenum was considered nothing more than a laboratory curiosity, but today it is used to harden steel, in oil refining equipment, and has helped make the U.S. auto industry the largest in the world.

"It is to you who have been taught how to think analytically," Dean Colbert told the class members, "that we look to continue the probe into the unknown. You are an investment in tomorrow."

Acting Chancellor John K. Sellock conferred the 21 doctors' degrees. Others called for their diplomas at the Administration Building after the program.

The 316 students receiving degrees, including 156 masters' and 21 doctors', and their colleges are:
